Hannah is a 3 year member of the Finley Fantastics 4-H club. She is the daughter of Stephanie and Troy Horstman.

The major project that she has taken in 4-H includes swine.

Hannah's future schooling/job plans include a career as a cosmetologist, which she has already started because she attend Prosser school of cosmetology her junior and senior years of high school.

The greatest contribution 4-H has made in Hannah's life is "it has brought me so many valuable contributions, from developing essential life skills to fostering a sense of community and leadership. Through hands-on projects and activities, I've learned about responsibility, teamwork, and problem-solving, which have all helped me grow as an individual. The program has also allowed me to connect with peers who share similar interests, making lifelong friendships while engaging in fun and educational experiences. Overall, 4-H has played a significant role in shaping my character and preparing me for future challenges."

Hannah describes the most important thing she learned from her participation in the 4-H program "is the value of perseverance and hard work. Throughout various projects, I faced challenges that required dedication and effort to overcome. Whether it was completing a complex task or preparing for a presentation, I learned success often comes from not giving up, even when things get tough. This experience taught me that putting in the time and effort can lead to personal growth and achievement, which has been valuable in other areas of my life as well."
