May is mental health awareness month! Every person, no matter age or location, must consider their mental health along with their physical health. No one is alone in experiencing mental health issues and challenges. One in five adults and one in six youth in the U.S. experiences mental illness (NAMI, 2023).

The best thing to do to combat the stigma and struggles surrounding mental health is to talk about it! Talking about our struggles normalizes what we are going through and provides a sense of support and relief. Find your support system; those who will listen when you need it. Mental Health America has created a template and tips for discussing mental health when things get challenging. You can find that here: <https://mhanational.org/resources/time-to-talk-tips-for-talking-about-your-mental-health/>
