HARRISON COUNTY

Health & Human Sciences Connections

Greetings all,

Spring is finally here and I am excited! I'm looking forward to colorful flowers and green leaves and fresh garden vegetables, all new signs of life returning after the grey winter.

The Extension Homemaker's held their first president's council meeting. The last time we were together was January, 2020. I was delighted to see them again. Their activities for the spring and summer are ramping up and we all hope nothing hinders the Fair or their other planned activities.

There are educational opportunities coming up this spring as well. I am doing classes for local groups on "Where Does Your Money Go?", a financial literacy program. Also, the Area 2 Health and Human Sciences educators are partnering to bring a virtual Dining with Diabetes series of classes in April. If interested, you may register with the Floyd County office. This newsletter contains more information.

I will be joining with Harrison Springs to conduct an 9-week series of Matter of Balance classes in April and May. We are excited since it was a year ago that we planned to do these classes. I'm planning another 8-week series after the Fairs of summer.

On March 30, 2021, I am teaching a ServSafe class and will be scheduling more soon. If you know of anyone needing to get their certification for retail food service management, please let me know.

Life is beginning to have some sort of normalcy. Each step closer to business as usual delights me. Please contact me if you or your clients wish to have some programming on family, money, health, and nutrition, please let me know. I would love to work with you on a program.

I really hope to see you all at the Fair,

Eating Right for Older Adults

Eating right doesn't have to be complicated. Choose healthy foods such a vegetables, fruits, whole grains, low -fat dairy and lean protein foods, that provide the nutrients you need. Consider these tips.

- Make half your plate colorful fruits and vegetables. Fresh and frozen are best. Watch for "low or no sodium" and "no sugar added" varieties.
- Make at least half your grains whole. Choose breads, cereals, pastas made with 100% whole grains. Also look for fiver-rich cereals to help stay regular.
- Switch to fat-free or low-fat milk, yogurt, and cheese. Older adults need more calcium and vitamin D to help keep bones healthy.
- Vary your protein choices. Eat a variety of foods form the protein group each week, such as seafood, nuts, beans, lentils, as well as lean meat, poultry, and eggs. Protein foods are a source of vitamin B12.
- Limit sodium, saturated fat and added sugars. Compare sodium in the foods you buy and choose those with lower numbers. Add spices and herbs to season food without adding salt. Examples of major courses of saturated fats include desserts, fried foods, pizza, and processed meats. Make these an occasional food choice, not a daily one. Use oils instead of solid fats when preparing foods. Choose fruits over desserts with added sugars.
- Stay well hydrated. Drink plenty of fluids, choosing unsweetened beverages, like water or milk, in place of sugary drinks
- Enjoy your food, but be mindful of portion size. Most older adults need fewer calories than in younger years. Avoid oversized portions. Try using smaller plates, bowls, and glasses.
- Cook more often at home, where you are in control of what's in your food. When eating out, look for healthier options by choosing dishes including vegetables, fruits and whole grains, along with a lean protein. If portions are large, share a meal or take half home for later.
- Be physically active your own way. Pick activities you like and start by doing what you can. Every bit adds up, health benefits increase and you become more active.

Nutrition and physical activity are keys to managing your type 2 diabetes.

But where do you start? The Dining with Diabetes program can help!
