EAT BETTER FOR LESS

Share the Gift of Healthy Eating with the Kids in Your Life

Kids are experts at snacking! When they are home on school breaks or visiting for the holidays, it helps to plan ahead. Because children have smaller stomachs, they need the energy and nutrients provided by mini-meals or snacks. Here are some strategies for selecting healthier options:

Plan snacks as part of daily food choices

Provide choices from several food groups and schedule regular snack times and amounts, rather than let children nibble all day.

Limit snacks that are high in sugar, fat, and salt

Look for snacks that have 2 or more grams of fiber, and 10% of the Daily Value for Vitamin A, Vitamin C, Calcium, or Iron.

Create a snack station

Package your own ready-to-go snacks or allow children to make their own snacks, then portion them into small plastic bags or reusable plastic containers.

Be a role model

Children learn most by seeing and doing. You can set the stage for their healthy future with food by practicing healthy eating behaviors like eating vegetables, getting physical activity, and enjoying breakfast and healthy snacks.
